DAYTON, Ohio, October 15, 1966 --- Ideas, Writing for Action, How to Get the Job You Want, and Interior Design for Today's Homes are four new short courses added to the Special Sessions program at the University of Dayton this month. The four bring to 13 the number of special programs currently in progress, according to Nora Duffy, Director.

Ideas is a workshop in creative problem-solving and is conducted by Ralph Vines, ad-writer, editor and columnist. This runs eight Wednesdays, 7:30-9:30 P.M., and starts October 26.

Writing for Action course will be taught by Dr. Esther R. Walden, Assistant Professor of Business Administration at UD and October 26, running eight Wednesday evenings, 7:30-9:30 P.M. The course is a study in writing with variety, flexibility and control.

The How to Get The Job You Want course also is taught by Dayton advertising executive, Ralph Vines, and is designed to teach you to know your capabilities and how to present them in the proper time, proper place and to the right person. This program starts October 24 and will run on eight Mondays for two hours starting at 7:30 P.M.

Mrs. Florence Pohler, Decorating Consultant at Lowe Brothers, will handle the Interior Design for Today's Home course on eight Tuesday evenings, starting October 18 at 7:30 P.M. This program will include color harmony, room arrangement, historical furniture, window treatments, lighting and accessories, and discussion of individual problems.
